TUESDAY,..... DEC. 14, 1875

THE Bulletin says Sacramento is filled with thieves and pickpockets. We trust people at a distance will not connect this circumstance with the recently convened Legislature.

THE advertising patronage of the HERALD has increased so rapidly that in order to give our readers the news we find it necessary to either enlarge the paper or resort to the use of smallopted the latter alternative.

SENATOR ROACH is trying to get a bill through the Legislature to regulate the price of water in San Francisco. It is high time a step in this direction was taken. The people of that city pay more for their water than for their bread.

· THE people of Canada do not propose that a second GUIEORD case shall occur. A bill has been introduced in the Legislature, providing that the ordinair of the diocese shall have the absolute privilege of indicating where Catholics shall be buried.

The Governor's Message.

Elsewhere we print the gist of Governor IRWIN'S Inaugural Message. It is an interesting document and is, when stripped of the verbiage and grandiloquence which gives it a slightly overdressed appearance, one of the soundest and most able documents of the kind that has ever been presented to the people of California. The senare as a whole such as will receive the unqualified endorsement of the people. It has been in print sufficiently long to receive the attention of editors generally and so far journalistic endorsement is without an exception. Governor IRWIN is a man of the people; he

THE STATE AS A NON STOCKHOLDER is thoroughly conversant with the understands how to supply those wants than he. His views on the the public schools are sound to the core and will receive the hearty endorsement of the whole people. The Governor is a thinker. He studies well before he writes or talks and the and generally correct. We commend the careful perusal of the summary in this morning's HERALD to all and es-the Senate, Lieut. Gov. Johnson made a short speech, in which he used the following language. "A man who will make pledges to the people for the purpose of getting their support and votes for place and position, and who will not redeem those pledges is not fit to be elevated to any position in the State of California." The speaker could truthfully have added there have been such men, many of them, and the people have rewarded their perfidy by banishing them to the quiet shades of private life, where they will remain in undisturbed med- enterprise itation on the degree and extent of punishment meted out to the violators of pledges. The remarks of the Lieut-Governor were doubtless intended as a warning to the Democracy which is now the dominant party of California. There is a Democratic majority in both branches of the Legislature and Democrats fill with one exception, all the executive offices of the State. The Democratic party is therefore responsible for whatever er- nece rors may occur in our State government during the next four years. Nor is the mere responsibility all. The "outs" are always arraigning the "ins" on charges of peculation and extractions of the state, which must be irrigated, if at all, from the same source of supply, shall form a single district. It will devoive on the Legislature to adopt the plan which shall offer the best guarantees for having this work done in a proper manner and the most concentration. He fitted to make a fine beer garden, with all the accessories—billiards, bowling alley etc.

We met yesterday, an old friend, Chas. Robinson, who drove the stage guarantees for having this work done in a proper manner and the most concentration. travagance, and they are loud and vehement in asservations and protestations of how much better they would do, were the management of affairs entrusted to their hands. For a period od almost beyond the memory of the od almost beyond the memory of the oldest inhabitant, the Democrats of California have occupied the honorable though unremunerative position of "outs," and during that time they have lost no opportunity to lay charges of fraud and extravagance at the door of the "ins." They have gone even beyond this, and through the press and from the stump pledged them. selves to principles of economy and reform in the event of their ever coming into power. They are now in the ascendency; they hold everything; the State government is almost entirely theirs; they assume control with a volume of unredeemed pledges in the hands of the people. Will these pledges be redeemed? They should be, and if men in office are as honest and sincere as they profess to be before election, they will be, Democrats have asked for a trial, and thepeople have acceded to this request. Let us hope that they will come out with-out spot or blemish; that their prac-lt is costly and unreformatory, More shops ance and not on account of its pure record and well established reputation for honesty. He knows that the acts of himself and those elected with him will draw the mandate "stand aside." or call forth the plaudit "well done, thou good and faithful servant," and he was wise in varning those around him in the language quoted above.

The Governor's Message.

The following condensation of Governor IRWIN's Inaugural Message contains all the points touched in which the people are directly interested:

CONSTITUTIONAL LIMITATION, And enlogizes that clause in our fundamental law which restricts the Legislature in its power to create debts and says the command power to create debts and says the command requiring the election of Collectors and Assessors to be elected by the people of the district has caused a multiplication of public officers and greatly added to the expenses of the State. But the malgin influence of this particular restriction has shown itself most conspicuously in introducing and perpetuating the giant evil of unequal assessment of property.

Taxation should be uniform but the Coner type. For the present we have addefeat that object! The Assessors value property for taxation and the Legislature cannot create a tribunal with power to correct the abberations of judgment to these local officers! So at least has the Supreme Court decided, hence the Constitution should be amended in that respect, for he knows of no other amendment to our Constitution so much needed—no one from which such tangible and substantial benefits would result gi ble and substantial benefits would result— as one committing the mode of assessing property and collecting taxes to Legislative

THE POWER TO CREATE DERTS.

As a rule, restrictions on legislative power, particularly on the power of Legislatures to create dept, have been promotive to the public welfare.

Debt is the bane of modern States. It Debt is the bane of modern States. It hangs like a mulstone about the neck of all civilized peoples. It consigns the laboring masses to penury and want by consuming the products of their labor in taxes to pay its interest. The money kings have their mortgages not alone on the real and personal property under the governments to which they have made loans, but on the brain and muscle of the people as well. This is the bondage of debt; it descends from father to son; from generation to generation.

Now, while I will not question the right of one generation to appropriate—to squander, if you will—its surplus earnings as it shall choose, I beg to ask by what authority it seems to encumber the inheritance of its successor, the land which God has given as the common heritage of all generations, with cessor, the land which God has given as the common heritage of all generations, with mortgages to the money kings? And still more do I desire to know where one generation obtains the right to hypothecate the brain and muscle—the energy, enterprise and labor of generations yet unborn—that it may only the luxury of splendid money which it enjoy the luxury of splendid money which it has not earned.

And if it had not been for this constitution.

al restriction on the power of the Legislature to create debts, who will undertake to say what proportion of the net earnings of our timents and opinions of the message capital and industry would now be required to pay the annual interest on the debt we would have, by this time, created. CITIES AND COUNTIES.

But while the State is prohibited from be-coming financially involved, there is no retrictions upon counties or cities, hence in the absence of such clause in the fundamental Act the Legislature should resolutely refuse all authority to counties and cities to is thoroughly conversant with the wants of the masses and no one better state to give or loan its credit to individuals, associations or corporations. But the instrument is illegical in not applying the same rule to cities and counties.

THE PEOPLE AND THE RAILWAYS.

ways?

Railroads sustain to the public about the same relation, and perform about the same office now, that ordinary wagon roads did, during the pre-railroad era. It was not questioned then that it was a legitimate function of the General ways and an imperative. consequence is his views are practical of the Government, and even an imperative this morning's HERALD to all and especially to the laboring masses. The message is pre-eminently Democratic and if its suggestions are acted upon by the Legislature we may anticipate a short session and an economical administration.

Promise and Performance.

On taking his seat as President of the Senate, Lieut. Gov. Johnson made government, suggest in services which is government is bound to perform in behalf of the public, that the government clothes them with the power of eminent domain? If this view be correct it would seem clear that the government must possess the right to require the corporations to operate their roads in the public interests. I do not mean to asset that public interests. I do not mean to assert that the corporations have not property rights in the roads which the government is both; kfally and morrally bound to protect.

Justice must be done to the ra lways as well as to the people. The State must prevent ex-investment as are those who invest in other

RAILROAD COMMISSIONERS. And he finally concludes his argument by intelligent legis ation on railroad matters.

IRRIGATION. This subject he looks upon as the most important problem with which the Legislature will have to deal at the present session. In devising a system of irrigation it would sem necessary that the legislature should pro-

are clothed with these rights,

Third—That each seperate portion of land forming an irrigation district shall have an indefeasible right to its pro rata share of the water belonging to the district. The right of each portion of the land of a district to a pro rata share of the water appropriated to such district results, as a necessary corollary from the power resumed; first, to form all the lands susceptible of irrigation from the same source into a district; and, second, to give such district the right to appropriate, purchase, or condemn the water necessary for its irrigation.

THE LAND SHOULD BEAR THE COST. The justice of making each district bear Its effects on land are phalagous to those of expense of irrigation. In other words, the cost of bringing water upon land should be paid out of the increased value given to the land.

STATE PRISON, tice may equal their profession. The Lieut-Governor is not unmindful

timation, on the answers which shall be returned to the following: Can convicts beemployed profitably at quarring and dressing granite at Folsom? If yes, what number can be so employed? I think I hazard nothing in assuming that for any other purpose, convict labor will always be in much better demand, and will command much higher primand, and will command much higher pr ces, at San Quinten than at Folsom. If these opinions be well founded, the Legislature should pause before determining to provide should pause before determining to provide all additional prison accommodations, which may be required, at Folsom.

I venture to suggest that the first story of the prison commenced at Folsom be carried forward to completion, and that the work be then stopped. This will give 160 cells. Let the experiment of quarrying and dressing granite with convicts be then tried. If the experiment be successful, and there be a demand for more prisoners that can be accompanded. mand for more prisoners that can be accomodated in the cells already provided, let an additional story or two be built on the prison. In the mean time more shop room and more cell-room must be provided somewhere and these additional accommodations are not wanted as mere conveniences or luxuries they are required as absolute necessities. No step can be taken toward making the prison self-supporting without them.

STATE BOARD OF EQUALIZATION. Without some body, without powers similar to those attempted to be given to the state Board of Equalization, the different counties can never be made to bear their just proportion, and no more, of the burden of supporting the State government; but as the Courts have divested it of all useful power he suggests that considerations of each own imsuggests that considerations of economy im-peratively demand that it be abolished. THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Must be sustained; and if the parents neglects to educate the child, the state must take upon herself that duty, just as it would have to feed and clothe the child if the paents could not.

CHURCH AND STATE. Must remain forever separate; and the State may not force into the schools, which her dety compels her to maintain, studies obnoxious to any portion of the citizens of the State, on account of the religious character of such studies.

THE CURRENCY QUESTION Is the next taken up, and in his opinion hard money is just the thing for California. THE CHINESE

Will work a change in the very character of our civilization if not stopped from coming among us, but the only way to accomplish that end is to bring all our influence to bear on the Government at Washington, to induce it to demand a modification of the treaty between this Government and that of China. He says our interests, our safety, demand that it shall be reduced to a mere commercial Attempted Suicide.

Last Saturday evening a Mrs. Wilson attempted to commit suicide by taking a dose of strychnine. The case has many melancholy features, and the attempt to destroy her life is no doubt chargeable to temporary insanity caused by the loss of her infant child. The family, consisting of Mr. and Mrs. Wilson and several children, came here some time since from Sonoma county, and since To-morrow, Thursday and Friday will wit- their arrival death has claimed two of their children as his victims, overwhelming the parents in grief and despair. These losses so impressed the poor mother that on Saturday evening just before entering the house mile from the Court House. Conveyances of a friend on Alameda street she took a dose will leave Temple Block at 9 and 9:30 A. M., of strychnine. After going into the house she was observed to be in great agony and acknowledged that she had takan poison. Medical aid was speedily summoned, and after great exertions her life was saved and she was taken to her home. The husband is a worthy, industrious citizen, and he is overwhelmed by this last sad misfortune, in addition to the previous loss of dearly loved children. It is a sad case, but we hope it will be a warning to the bereaved mother to submit to the ills of this life, rather than fly to those we know nothing of.

Murder at the Yunnei.

On Sunday while a party of Chinamen were gambling at San Fernando, a fight occurred which resulted in the serious wounding of a white man and Chinaman. Ah Ling, one of the parties to the fight, got on the train at San Fernando to come to this city but was arrested by the citizens on board, who on the arrival of the train delivered him to officer Turner at the depot. He is now in jail awaiting the result of the cutting affray. At last accounts the victims of the melee were very

KNOWEEDGE;

FOR THE HERALD.

Knowledge, fair knowledge is my theme Far nobler than a poet's dream; Who thro' the centuries, man foresees Rounding to grand-ur, destinies, Whose prophetic vision ages scan Before the march of coming man. This is the power, when truly plied, By which our race is deified. The Archimedian power unfurled, By which we'll lift our planet world, And when this lever's brought to bear, fore they are all gone. dec11-1m 'Twill fling old error high in air, Put down oppression, let fair peace Have an eternal shining lease, And bigotry, intolerance, pride, Be ever from us banished wide, And liberty, that transcendent pearl, That beauteous maid, angelie girl. We'll worship her no more afar, But as the world's most glorious star, With her blessings free that all may share. The same as sunshine or pure air, With this real treasure in our store, Far greater than the golden ore, Far nobler than the crown of kings, Or earthly rank or grandeur brings. The crown will pass from time away, But knowledge grows to brighter day. 'Twill sweep along the outer world, When destruction's flag's unfurled. 'Twill with the mighiest things outvie, And tread the palace of the sky, When time has reached its utmost shore, 'Iwill shine with beauty all the more, And like the light of ancient soers. 'I will mightier grow through circle years.
